Continued to the meeting of the New Haven road's directors yesterday at which it was voted not to declare a dividend.

Governor James M. Cox, of Ohlo, was among the speakers at the dinner, which was attended by many prominent rallroad officials and other representatives of the business world. Governor Cox urged that the Interstate Commerce Commission, rather than State commissions, be vested with authority to pass an issue of rallway securities.

Regarding charges of dishonest rallroad management, Mr. Elliott said that if some rallroads in the past have been overcapitalized, it is to be regretted. "But no workable method has been suggested," he declared, "by which securities issued legally and bought in good faith can be taken from the owners without failures and receiverships that harm many more people than the owners of the securities."

"The railway managers," he continued, "want to know where to improve, They welcome just criticism." To serve the public adequately is their purpose, and it is their duty to seek diligently the authority and help necessary if the railway is to be what the people want.
